paragraph = """I have three visions for India. In 3000 years of our history, people from all over the world have come and invaded us, captured our lands, conquered our mind s.
                From Alexander onwards, the Greeks, the Turks, the Moguls, the Portuguese, the British,
                the French, the Dutch, all of them came and looted us, took over what was ours.
                Yet we have not done this to any other nation. We have not conquered anyon e.
                We have not grabbed their land, their culture, their history and tried to enforce our way of life on them.
                Why? Because we respect the freedom of others. That is why my first vision is that of freedom. I believe that India got its first visio n of this in 1857, when we started the War of Independence. It is this freedom that we must protect and nurture and build on. If we are not free, no one will respect us.
                My second vision for India's development. For fifty years we have been a developing nation.
                It is time we see ourselves as a developed nation. We are among the top 5 nations of the world in terms of GDP. We have a 10 percent growth rate in most areas. Our pover ty levels are falling.
                Our achievements are being globally recognised today. Yet we lack the self -confidence to see ourselves as a developed nation, self-reliant and self-assured. Isn't this incorrect?
                I have a third vision. India must stand up to the world. Because I believ e that unless India stands up to the world, no one will respect us. Only strength respects str ength. We must be strong not only as a military power but also as an economic power. Both mu st go hand-in-hand.
                My good fortune was to have worked with three great minds. Dr. Vikram Sar abhai of the Dept. of space, Professor Satish Dhawan, who succeeded him and Dr. Brahm Prakash, father of nuclear material.
                I was lucky to have worked with all three of them closely and consider thi s the great opportunity of my life.
                I see four milestones in my career"""

    Thank you to all of you in this room. I have to congratulate the other incredible nominees this year. The Revenant was the product of the tireless efforts of an unbelievable cast and crew. First off, to my brother in this endeavor, Mr. Tom Hardy. Tom, your talent on screen can only be surpassed by your friendship off screen ... thank you for creating a t ranscendent cinematic experience. Thank you to everybody at Fox and New Regency ... my entire team. I have to thank everyone from the very onset of my career ... To my parents; none of this would be possible without you. And to my friends, I love you dearly; you know who you are. And lastly, I just want to say this: Making The Revenant was about man's relationship to the natural world. A world that we collectively felt in 2015 as the hottest year in recorded history. Our production needed to move to the southern tip of this planet just to be able to find snow. Climate change is real, it is happening right now. It is the most urgent threat facing our entire species, and we need to work collectively together and stop procrastinating. We need to support leaders around the world who do not speak for the big polluters, but who speak for all of humanity, for the indigenous people of the world, for the billions and billions of underprivileged people out there who would be most affected by this. For our children's children, and for those people out there whose voices have been drowned out by the politics of greed. I thank you all for this amazing award tonight. Let us not take this planet for granted. I do not take tonight for granted. Thank you so very much."""

One of the biggest problems with text is that it is messy and unstructured, and machine learning algorithms prefer structured, well defined fixed-length inputs and by using the Bag-of-Words technique we can convert variable-length texts into a fixed-length vector.

A bag of words is a representation of text that describes the occurrence of words within a document. We just keep track of word counts and disregard the grammatical details and the word order. It is called a "bag" of words because any information about the order or structure of words in the document is discarded. The model is only concerned with whether known words occur in the document, not where in the document. spaCy: Industrial-strength NLP spaCy is a library for advanced Natural Language Processing in Python and Cython. It's built on the very latest research, and was designed from day one to be used in real products. spaCy comes with pretrained pipelines and currently supports tokenization and training for 60+ languages. It features state-of-the-art speed and neural network models for tagging, parsing, named entity recognition, text classification and more, multi-task learning with pretrained transformers like BERT, as well as a production-ready training system and easy model packaging, deployment and workflow management. spaCy is commercial open-source software, released under the MIT license.

YAKE

Yet Another Keyword Extractor (Yake) library selects the most important keywords using the text statistical features method from the article. With the help of YAKE, you can control the extracted keyword word count and other features. Unsupervised Approach for Automatic Keyword Extraction using Text Features

Rake-Nltk You can form a powerful keyword extraction method by combining the Rapid Automatic Keyword Extraction (RAKE) algorithm with the NLTK toolkit.

In [14]:

from rake_nltk import Rake rake_nltk_var = Rake()

```

In [15]:

text = """spaCy is an open-source software library for advanced natural language processing, written in the programming languages Python and Cython. The library is published under the MIT license and its main developers are Matthew Honnibal and Ines Montani, the founders of the software company Explosion.""" rake_nltk_var.extract_keywords_from_text(text) keyword_extracted = rake_nltk_var.get_ranked_phrases()
print(keyword_extracted)

```
['advanced natural language processing', 'software company explosion', 'programming languages python', 'source software library', 'mit license', 'matthew honnibal', 'main developers', 'ines montani', 'library', 'written', 'spacy', 'published', 'open', 'founders', 'cython']
```

Gensim is primarily developed for topic modeling. Over time, Gensim added other NLP tasks such as summarization, finding text similarity, etc. Here we will demonstrate the use of Gensim for keyword extraction tasks

In [ ]:

from gensim.summarization import keywords text = """spaCy is an open-source software library for advanced natural language processing, written in the programming languages Python and Cython. The library is published under the MIT license and its main developers are Matthew Honnibal and Ines Montani, the founders of the software company Explosion.""" print(keywords(text))

Keyword Extraction

    text = trafilatura.extract(html)
    text_clean = text.replace("\n", " ").replace("'", "") array_text.append(text_clean[0:5000])

TextRank is an unsupervised method to perform keyword and sentence extraction. It is based on a graph where each node is a word and the edges are constructed by observing the co-occurrence of words inside a moving window of predefined size. Important nodes of the graph, computed with an algorithm similar to PageRank, represent keywords in the text

In [11]:

    print("Keywords of article", str(j+1), "\n", (keywords.keywords(array_text[j], words=5)).split("\n"))

Graph based keyword extraction TopicRank is another unsupervised graph-based keyphrase extractor. Different from TextRank, in this case, the nodes of the graph are topics and each topic is a cluster of similar single and multiword expressions.
